- Animated
- 5-7 minutes
- Kids 4-10
- Comedy, music

Blastaway Pandas, the animated show is based on the characters "Räminäpandat", a fictional heavy metal band of pandas, in Ville Nummenpää's children's books "Hölmöjä Iltasatuja" (Goofy Bedtime Stories).

The book series is now in its second part, with a third part in planning stages. The books are collections of different silly stories, the pandas being one of the recurring characters.

The band Blastaway Pandas, is the loudest band in existence. They are famous, internationally adored by animals everywhere, but totally unknown to us humans. They often hold big concerts in secret places where humans never go.

The band members have recognizable traits, similar to their many human counterparts. Which is not to say all rock musicians are clichés, but...

Band members:

– Voy-Z

An amazing singer. Also the joker of the group, a charmer, always liked by everybody. Loves of recognition. If there's physical work to be done, he will spare no effort to avoid it.

– Speed-E

The guitarist. Fast and efficient. He's all about music, but wants his share of the spotlight. If any of these two have differing opinions, it's Voy-Z and Speed-E.

– Boun-C

The bassplayer. To put it nicely, he is not the thinker of the group. In fact, he rarely has opinions about anything, and forgets almost everything.

– Blas-T

The drummer. He is known as the quiet one, aka the problem solver. Most likely to offer a constructive solution to a problem. Comes across as the oldest of the group.

They may argue, they may bicker, but ultimately they pull together, and win any obstacle using the mighty force of heavy metal music.

Each episode culminates in a musical number. A catchy song that is also a music video, where difficulties are overcome, threats are neutralized, and mountains are moved.

Pilot script is available. All, most, or some of the music can be written and produced by the author.
