Why This Movie/Why Make It Now: Today's world is filled with selfish humans, a complicated problem faced and far from feeling grateful, I want to give a message through this script, that whatever happens, it will be bitter or sweet in life everything is God's design where God has arranged the best for each individual, when someone may fail in a job vacancy, then the position is filled by other person, maybe the other person will bring change is better for the company in the future so many people will prosper, when someone is not in the top 10 in a festival event, maybe that's a signal that he should join another festival and then grow there, that person is not certain will succeed in the next festival but can learn a lesson, or if he fails and fails, at least he has the experience to overcome the situation. I wrote Grace's script so that the current generation understands (without me intending to patronize) what is currently being obtained by someone is so that person can grow, if not material then it is spiritual and mental. It's okay to fail and fail in effort, bad luck and bad luck in life, what's important, the point is that everyone (I hope) can be grateful that what God gives is the best scenario, which is not only for the person himself, but for all who are connected to each other toward all of His creation.
