YOU HAVE WHAT HE NEEDS

MONSTERS COME IN ALL SHAPES AND SIZES

A lonely genetically engineered man continuing his father's research on immortality saves the lives of a group of graduate students stranded in the remote Utah desert. They will all discover what the word “monster” truly means.

IN THE REMOTE UTAH DESERT

Six archaeology students from UNLV dig in a remote site but are stranded when their van breaks down. Dying of thirst, the students explore the desert for a way out and find a secret lab built into a cliff. Frightened by their discovery, they fill their water bottles and leave.

Time passes

Their water runs out again

Experiment takes pity on the students and takes them into his home .

FRIENDS AT LAST?

Having never met another human besides the mad scientist he called Father, a house full of people his age is new and exciting. and he just might have found his first girlfriend.

But another student is jealous.

HIS SECRET IS DISCOVERED

One of the students uncovers a deadly secret. The Experiment requires a component in human blood in order to live. He works with the local tribe to purge the reservation of its most heinous criminals, harvesting their blood in order to stay alive.

HE DRAINS

After seeing a video of the Experiment hanging a child molester on a deer rack and draining his blood, the jealous student attempts to kill him. His super-human healing and strength allows him to survive and chase the assailant from the lab.

While gone, the student makes a pact with the reservation: Let him replace the experiment as the cleaner for the tribe.

He chases the jealous student around the reservation, but the student beats him back to the lab and locks him out, threatening to kill all the students except his girl.

HAPPILY EVER AFTER?

After a deadly confrontation, the jealous student ends up killing all but one of his fellow students but fails to kill the Experiment and take his place.

WHO IS THE MONSTER?

IN A BITTERSWEET ENDING, HIS LOVE LOSES HER MIND, BUT HE CONTINUES HIS FATHER'S EXPERIMENTS IN HOPES OF CURING HER .
