

MINDBOGLER

Sci-fi/Action/Adventure
TV Series

Allen Haynes Jr.

LOGLINE:

A high school teenager experiences a laser gun accident, unleashing the altered reality gift of appearing on flat screens and electronic devices, bringing him both great opportunities and great challenges.

ORIGIN:

I wanted to combine my current way of life with my personality when young. I'm highly interested in such genres as action, sci-fi, and urban fantasy, combined with some comedy that touches many other viewers. Some of my favorites are Indiana Jones, all the Star Trek TV series/films, and some Harry Potter sequels. Also, I do like theme songs that reflect a characters' behavior.

CHARACTERS:

James Owens: A.K.A. "MINDBOGLER", a high school teen who undergoes a dramatic alternate reality transformation

Jeff: Puerto Rican nerd, James' classmate, science project partner, and new friend

Professor: Jeff's father. He specializes in Mechanical/Nuclear Physics

Zeonar: Mastermind/Semi-Villain

COMPARABLES:

Spiderman, Quantum Leap, Mighty Max, Max Headroom

MARKET APPEAL:

MARKET APPEAL: A teen-age lead; a diverse cast across a wide range of ages, attitudes, and skills; and opportunities for very imaginative explorations into other realities can appeal to many different types of viewers across the globe. The series could also have an interactive fan website.

MINDBOGLER

Allen Haynes JR.

SYNOPSIS:

James a star, Entrepreneur, and a self-cast member. Fans adore him, so they called him “MINDBOGLER”. Because he has tricks behind his sleeves on stream, so many others think he’s like a magician. Other cast members never auditioned or rehearsed with the teenager.

Although, Owens gets so bottled up by himself, doing his own dirty work. The situation is rather unusual. He has good ratings in front of the screen of many fans, which James enjoys the comfort of. But when James doesn’t like to reveal his unique gift personally in front of the public.

The gift that he chose to use, which started from within the past that he didn’t realizes back then, till now. After the accident, from within the beginning, he failed to reconsider the danger by a motive to fire a laser gun; that blasted upon himself.

That causes a hazardous beam deflected directly at the ongoing flatscreen device itself. In his own bedroom. Which goes directly towards Owens, blindly unconscious. Boy is he in for a treat, by taking possession of that weapon from a laboratory inside a private upper-class mansion.

The mansion property belongs to both his nerdy classmate, Jeff and his father who's the Professor. They both are geniuses, and very unreconciled family tides to James Owen’s admiration.

Later, Owens learned that he developed more of his gift. Hes acrobatic combined with combat fighting skills, and a bit of martial arts. He travels along the paths of genre within those devices while he remains to be secretly trained from the alternate reality and our world of documentaries and ect..

By taking advantage from here to there, he takes sides to defend somebody as well as himself.

Undoubtedly, he prefers fame again to gain wealth potential. Besides, he sometimes likes to serve justice continuously at the bare minimum without any need of assistance. So minimum, that he likes stalking troublemakers who have curious mindsets into not knowing him, that's not visual.

However, Owens faces a difficult challenge, by using his gift that's usually not attentionally good at Zeonar. When he escapes out of nowhere, he cannot tell or detect Owens because of his corruption. So, therefore, Owens at times can possibly search quietly, behind the Mastermind tracks from other ruthless men, by word of mouth.

How unfortunate now that Owens doesn't want to have too much attention. Attention that he displeases fame towards the paparazzi and the mainstream media coverage.

Even though, without proof of no markings and fingerprints of James Owens secrets. His gifts give him the satisfaction to discover many mysterious ways for himself to not interfere cluelessly. Without having to be afraid of anyone, including what's within the genre of the flatscreen and electronic devices.

MARKET APPEAL

The “MINDBOGLER” series features a teen-age lead; a diverse cast across a wide range of ages, attitudes, and skills. Opportunities for very imaginative explorations into other realities can appeal to many different types of viewers across the globe.

The number of people interested in this subject is astronomical. There’s a long legacy and ongoing popularity of sci-fi, action, adventure, and multi-verse stories.

Comparable series are Spiderman, Quantum Leap, Mighty Max, Max Headroom.

Others include the Marvel and DC universes, Star Wars, Star Trek, and many more.

The “MINDBOGLER” series would support an engaging interactive website where viewers could even suggest ideas that might be used in future episodes.
