Logline:

It's the most murder-ful time of the year when a masked assailant slays the competition in a small town Christmas beauty pageant one Belle at a time.

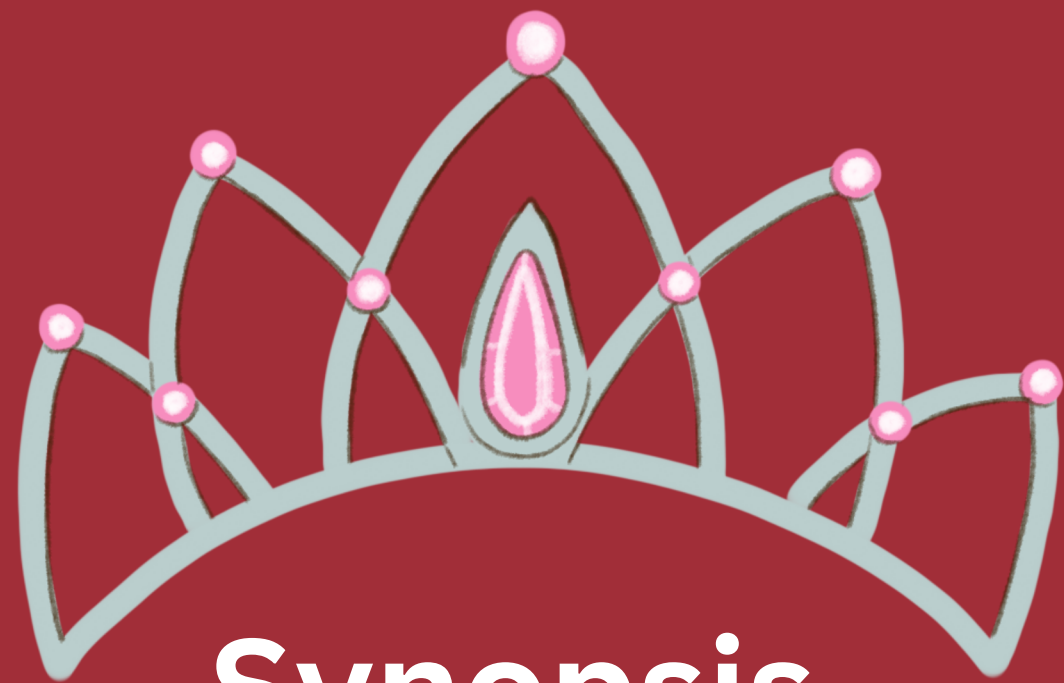

Synopsis

Starlette Knight, the reigning Miss Sleigh Belle beauty queen in the quirky, small town of Evergreen Valley, is bludgeoned to death in her home on the night she is preparing to audition to defend her title. Her ex-boyfriend Kyle Parks becomes a suspect but is cleared when it's revealed he recently broke up with Starlette after falling for trans pageant contestant, Billie Jean.

Old school sheriff, Russ Campbell, and his deputy Andie (Andrea) Ross, struggle to find the killer, questioning shady characters like town bad boy “Hawk” and his unhinged mother, Ronnie. They even suspect assistant pageant coordinator Mimi Abner after she threatens to shoot Carolyn Carrington, the stubborn pageant coordinator who has tormented her for years.

As the eccentric contestants, like yodeling-ukulele player Tracy Hill, and ventriloquist Shaunna Gates with her sassy dummy Suzy, vie for the crown, the body count rises. Two mean girls meet their maker, a baton twirler goes up in literal flames, but Billie Jean survives a stabbing attack and identifies the killer as wearing a creepy, latex Santa mask.

Through it all, new age pageant coach Nikki Decker preaches the healing power of unicorns, but the killer has only just warmed up their blades.

Synopsis

The night before the pageant, frontrunner, Davina Brown, a single, black mother with an amazing singing voice, is forced to drop out after someone tells Carolyn she has a young daughter; something that is forbidden in the pageant rule book.

Tragedy strikes during the pageant itself when a sabotaged sleigh falls from the rafters, crushing the remaining contestants. Davina wins by default!

The story comes full circle when a bitter diner waitress named Judy, who was barred from competing in the pageant in her youth after having a child, breaks into Davina's home. Consumed by jealousy over Davina's victory, Judy attacks Davina but is stabbed to death. The town is left reeling from the pageant carnage brought on by one woman's festering resentment... Or is another killer looming in the shadows?
